The Name Is Nixon

The Star declared for Richard M. Nixon for President in 1968. We see no reason to change that choice as the nation prepares to vote again on Nov. 7.

We will vote for Nixon and his vice-presidential partner, Spiro Agnew—but otherwise we will support the Democratic ticket.

The reasoning behind this ticket-splitting should be obvious.

It is the President who largely determines the direction in which government and the people are traveling. In the 27 years following the close of World War II our country has plunged ever deeper into debt—a debt now marching toward 400 billion dollars. The debt increased under all of Mr. Nixon's predecessors, including Dwight D. Eisenhower, a Republican. We endorsed Eisenhower in his first campaign, but as he continued the deficit financing of his Democratic predecessors we remained neutral when he ran for a second term.

Mr. Nixon has done his part in trying to stop inflation where it started—the prodigal spending by government without adequate coverage by taxation. Within the last few days he vetoed nine major bills because in the main they represented congressional appropriations without tax support.

In this perhaps unpopular action he needs every thinking American's understanding and support.

Deny him your vote next Tuesday and you'll have only yourself to blame if give-away programs multiply, the dollar declines in value—and a new surge in the cost of living cuts into your savings and paycheck.

Finally, for the first time since the end of World War II President Nixon has changed the course of thinking in the United States Supreme Court. Americans would do well to remember that when they vote for President they are also determining what kind of a Supreme Court they will have. The oldest adage in our history reminds you "The Supreme Court follows the election returns."

President Nixon has added conservatively-minded justices to the Court. It is no longer "the red Court" of recent years—but a group of stable men reading the law regardless of popular whimsies sent up to it by the Congress.

I shall vote the Democratic ticket below the Nixon-Agnew level. The reason for this should also be obvious.

In Senators McClellan and Fulbright and Rep. Mills Arkansas has three men who head the most powerful committees in Congress. They are able and informed men. Overturning the Democratic majority in Congress would cost all of them their committee chairmanships.

Despite the conflict between the President and the Congress I feel our three can be depended on to work with Mr. Nixon in the long run for our nation. If it's a calculated risk, so let it be.

The ghouls and the girl

Little hobgoblins, ghosts and witches need not fear the ghoulish fellow above because he had his fling last Saturday night at the Centerville Community's annual "Halloween get-together." Even such stunts as hanging a witch and waiting a ghoul come bursting out of the ground did little to keep some people entertained, like the little girl at left. Especially after their bedtime. More than 200 persons attended the holiday festivities.

Peace talks expected to resume anew

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic sources say the United States and North Vietnam have agreed to resume negotiations that could lead to a cease-fire in Indochina by Sunday.

These sources, members of the foreign diplomatic corps, said South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu could be expected to sign the agreement, despite Saigon's strident statements in recent days.

The State Department would not comment on these reports. But Harry Dent, one of President Nixon's key political advisers, said Monday night he doubts any settlement can be reached within a week's time.

"There will be no push to end the war immediately on our part, and I don't think there is any way it can come before Nov. 7," Dent told newsmen in Atlanta Monday night. "There are still some important things unsettled...."

When word of the impending peace agreement broke last week, North Vietnam demanded that the United States be prepared to sign the papers Oct. 31, Paris time. But White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters Monday "we would not sign such an agreement until the conditions are right."

Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's chief foreign-policy adviser, announced last week that "peace is at hand" but added that one more negotiating session of three or four days would be necessary to nail down details of the proposed cease-fire agreement.

Kissinger said the time and place for such a final session are up to Hanoi, and Nixon administration officials said Monday there is no word from North Vietnam about the next round of talks.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Indonesia, Hungary, Canada and Poland are being named to an international supervisory control commission to oversee the cease-fire in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

The commission would succeed the International Control Commission—chaired by India with Poland and Canada as members—that was set up to oversee implementation of the Geneva accords in Indochina.

Attacks increase

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces made more than 100 attacks across South Vietnam Monday and early today in the sixth successive day of stepped-up activity.

While many of the attacks were small in scale, two assaults in the northern provinces overran a ranger camp at Ba To and the district town of Que Son, 80 and 25 miles below Da Nang. An auxiliary air base at Da Nang was shelled, and hundreds of shells hit government positions in the northern provinces of Quang Tri and Thua Thien.

It was the fifth time Que Son had changed hands since mid-August.

Forty of the 150 rangers at Ba To were still unaccounted for 12 hours after the attack during the night.

Initial reports said 13 government soldiers were killed and 42 were wounded at Que Son, an important town because it is the gateway to the populous coastal lowlands and Highway 1 to the east. There was no immediate report on enemy losses.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese also pressed their land-grab campaign in the Saigon region, trying unsuccessfully to infiltrate small units into half a dozen hamlets during the night, field reports said.

Highway 13 was cut again about 12 miles north of Saigon by a small firebomb at a hamlet.

In the central highlands, North Vietnamese forces launched counterattacks against government troops who on Monday reoccupied the town of Dak To and the Tan Canh base camp, which had been in enemy hands for six months.

Several small attacks were reported between Kontum and Pleiku, the two major cities in the highlands.

Increased Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks also were reported in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon. The Viet Cong blew up a culvert on Highway 8 about 100 miles southwest of Saigon, temporarily halting traffic. The highway links the port of Rach Gia with Saigon.

U.S. air and naval attacks on North Vietnam were still suspended above the 20th parallel, but American B-52 bombers struck heavy blows at supply caches in the southern half of the country. Nearly 40 B-52 strikes were reported.

Tax-relief proposal scaled down by Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, apparently backing away from across-the-board property-tax relief, says that if re-elected "one of my highest-priority proposals" will be property-tax relief for older citizens.

Nixon made the scaled-down pledge in a nationally broadcast campaign radio speech Monday afternoon.

Some months ago, Nixon hinted his re-election drive might feature, as its central pocket-book appeal, a plan to sharply reduce the local property taxes of most, if not all, homeowners and businessmen through a federal subsidy system.

Early in the campaign, however, Nixon began talking instead about a qualified pledge to hold the line against federal tax increases.

The qualification was that the Democratic controlled Congress restrain what Nixon termed "a spending binge."

With the federal budget deep in the red, even before Congress got its hands on major legislation, Nixon and his advisers apparently concluded that, in such circumstances, lower local property taxes across the board could be purchased only at the cost of higher federal taxes.

In keeping with his change of strategy, Nixon told his radio audience that the average elderly citizen in the Northeast must allot 30 per cent of income to pay property taxes.

He asserted: "This is wrong. And we must stop it. One of my highest-priority proposals to the new Congress will be property-tax relief for older Americans." Nixon announced at the outset of his radio speech that he had signed a Social Security-welfare bill that will increase benefits, mostly going to the elderly and disabled, by $6 billion.

Missing from the bill was the President's plan to reform welfare benefits for poor families with dependent children. In essence, a key feature of the proposals would have guaranteed a minimum annual income of $2,400 a year for a destitute family of four.

The President announced Monday that he was signing 60 bills passed in the closing days of the 1972 Congress. He vetoed two that were supposed to help the elderly: one to amend the Older Americans Act, the other to launch a brand new program of research into problems of aging. He said the bills provided for greater outlays than could be managed practically and overlapped existing programs.

The officer said the injuries were suffered in Texarkana and the child was driven to Little Rock for treatment. Some burned clothing was found in the house where the child lived, he said.

On Thursday, Nov. 2nd at Hope City Hall Auditorium there will be a film for the instruction of judges and clerks who will work the Nov. 7th General Election polls. All judges and clerks and other interested persons are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Crit Stuart Jr., Bill Beathers, and Barry Brown, members of the Hempstead County Election Committee urge all poll workers to be present for this film.

The Hope High School marching band participated with 20 other high school bands in an invitational marching contest held at the Henderson State College in Arkadelphia Saturday. The Hope Band received a first division rating (superior) for the second time this year. The band will compete in another invitational regional marching contest to be held in Camden Saturday. The 72-member band is under the direction of Gary Wells assisted by Byron Holt.

Candidates are THE issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — After almost two years of campaigning on more issues than most voters can remember, the ultimate issue of the 1972 presidential election has become the candidates themselves.

In the closing days of the campaign, the camps of Richard Nixon and George McGovern, and the electorate, are talking mainly about the personalities, characters and styles of the candidates.

The overriding questions on which judgment is asked Nov. 7 are: —Is Sen. McGovern the radical, the irresponsible that President Nixon's legion of stand-ins has tried to picture him?

—Is the current administration the most corrupt in the nation's history with Nixon knowingly responsible for it, as McGovern says?

Going into the final 10 days of the campaign, Democratic vice-presidential nominee Sargent Shriver said last weekend that the Nixon administration represents "government of the greedy, for the greedy and by the greedy."

And Nixon, on the same day, said "this is no time to experiment with chancy economic theories...."

These are the themes on which the two tickets chose to close the campaign, and most other issues fall in line behind them.

When McGovern announced as a candidate in January of 1971, the Vietnam war was his big issue. By July he was displaying a new emphasis on the economy. On Oct. 10 he chose the war as the leadoff topic for a series of television speeches.

Now, with announcement of an impending settlement in Vietnam, McGovern is alleging corruption and favoritism, political espionage and sabotage by the administration.

While McGovern was preparing for the primaries, Nixon was largely on the defensive and unable to develop issues of his own. He defended his spending policy and his economic plan.

The announcement in August 1971 of a wage-price freeze, followed by control boards, gave the administration a sense of offense on one count; the current peace-pact reports have done the same on the war issue.

The "corruption" issue began to emerge when columnist Jack Anderson wrote last February that International Telephone & Telegraph Co. had won a favorable antitrust settlement from the Nixon administration after promising money to help finance the Republican National Convention. The administration denied any deal.

Then in June, five men, including the security chief for Nixon's campaign, were arrested at gunpoint during a break-in at Democratic party headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.

Nixon's issue was handed to him in early summer when McGovern was beginning to break through in the Democratic primaries as the favorite for the party's nomination. When the other contenders tried to derail him in the late primaries, they sought to picture the stands which had won him a following as extreme, from the war to the economy. The nation saw and heard Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey say that McGovern's economic policies would wreck the economy and his defense proposals would leave the country militarily weak.

Since Labor Day, Nixon's surrogates have been making up to a half-dozen speeches a day across the country, not to mention a flood-tide of press releases from every quarter of the government, attacking McGovern as a radical with dangerous ideas on defense, welfare, taxes and Vietnam.

Nixon himself has had little to say about McGovern—and never mentions him by name.

When McGovern revised some of his proposals under fire, he was accused of being unstable and indecisive.

But the real torpedo in McGovern's campaign was the dropping of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as his running-mate after disclosure of Eagleton's treatment for mental illness.

Judge rules that courts have power to force school mergers

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that a U.S. district court has the power to force merger of school districts under certain conditions.

The ruling was issued here by U.S. District Judge Mac Swinford in a memorandum accompanying a decision on a suit involving the Shelby County and Shelbyville school systems.

The suit was filed in July. Swinford's memorandum apparently takes a position contrary to a ruling last month in Louisville by U.S. District Judge James Gordon and an earlier ruling from the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a Richmond, Va., case.

Gordon, ruling in a suit calling for merger of Louisville, Anchorage and Jefferson County school systems on grounds of segregation, refused to order a merger and said he doesn't think federal courts have the authority to merge political boundaries to achieve more desegregation.

In the Richmond case, a federal appeals court overturned the decision of a federal judge who had ordered the merger of Richmond schools with two adjacent counties. That reversal is under appeal.

Swinford said in his memorandum that school district boundary lines normally are matters for legislative bodies, but said courts may intervene if unconstitutional laws are involved or if the application of a law denies constitutional rights.

The Shelby County case was filed by the Kentucky Civil Liberties Union on behalf of five parents who claimed that maintaining separate districts deprives students in city schools of education of quality equal to that in county schools.

Swinford noted the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in the Richmond case based its ruling on the conclusion that "the last vestiges of state-imposed segregation have been wiped out," in Richmond schools.

But Swinford noted that the appellate court also held that federal courts can order mergers to achieve racial balance "if it were shown that there had been invidious discrimination." Such discrimination is charged in the Shelby County case.

'YD' throws support to Nixon

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ron Oliver of Little Rock, president of Young Democratic Clubs of Arkansas, said Monday there was no YD Club in Garland County and that he was "shocked and saddened" by Sunday's endorsement of a Republican by a group calling themselves YDs from the county.

Spencer Jackson of Hot Springs, who says he is president of the Garland County YD Club, said in a telephone interview Monday night from Fayetteville, where he was on business, that "as we understand it right now, we have a club."

Jackson attended a news conference here Sunday and announced that he and the Garland County YD Club endorsed Ken Coon for lieutenant governor. Coon, a Republican, is opposing the Democratic incumbent, Lieutenant governor Bob Riley.

Jackson said he directed Riley's campaign in Garland County two years ago.

According to files on record with the state secretary, Oliver said no charter presently exists for a Young Democrats Club in Garland County. He acknowledged there was a club chartered there in 1971 with a membership of ten persons.

Jackson said he wished Oliver would check his records.

Clubs have to file for new charters each year by April by paying $1 dues for each member, Jackson said. "We paid them in April of this year, I have a receipt," Jackson said.

"We also have 142 members."

According to records, Oliver said, there has not been a membership even nearing that total in Garland County in more than five years. "Due to the fact that his club is not chartered this year, Spencer Jackson could not possibly be a member of the State Executive Committee." He said Jackson was a member in 1971 but Oliver said he could not recall him attending even one meeting of the Executive Committee.

Jackson said he is a member of the Executive Committee. He said he did attend meetings last year and said he has attended meetings this year.

Oliver said he called Riley "to apologize for this outrage and he informed me him that he has never heard" of Jackson. "Therefore, I must, at this time, question the validity and the sincerity of everything Mr. Jackson said in his statement....," Oliver said.

Strong speech by McG hits at GOP 'burglars'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, in an attack considered too strong by his wife but cheered by the audience, says the American people are going to tell President Nixon next Tuesday to "take your bungling, bugging burglars and get out of the White House."

McGovern coupled the anti-Nixon language with a new appeal for Democrats to come "back home" to their party as he spoke Monday night to more than 1,500 persons at a Democratic fund-raising dinner here.

With just a week remaining in the 1972 campaign, and polls showing him far behind, the still-confident McGovern flies today to Syracuse, N.Y., for a rally before heading to the New York area for appearances in Jersey City, New Brunswick, N.J., and New York City.

At the Pittsburgh dinner, McGovern said Republican officials are trying "to persuade us that the spying and lying and burglary and sabotage will not affect the election because people expect these things of politicians."

"Any president of the United States who sets a moral standard so low the people are expected to think that these activities are a normal part of the political process of this great country," he added, "that kind of man does not deserve to be president of the United States."

He said "I think the American people are going to make that perfectly clear to Mr. Nixon on Nov. 7," drawing applause and an anonymous shout of "you better believe it!"

"They're going to say to Mr. Nixon and Mr. Agnew," McGovern continued, "take your bungling, bugging burglars and get out of the White House and the leadership of this country."

As the applause died, McGovern said, "I just asked my wife if that was too strong and she said 'Yes.'"

"How many people thought it was too strong?" he asked the crowd. A loud chorus of "no" rang through the room.

Aides said the Democratic presidential nominee's television spots would be stepped up starting today to what they termed saturation levels in major media markets and that he would make four more half-hour appearances, the next one Wednesday night.

In appearances Monday in Connecticut, where he addressed an estimated 15,000 to 20,000 supporters in Hartford's Constitution Plaza and upon arrival later in Pittsburgh, McGovern assailed Nixon for vetoes of nine domestic bills in the past week.

Canada's election 'dead heat'

TORONTO (AP) — Canada's voters blinked unbelievably today at the results of their 29th general election — a virtual dead heat between the two major parties and an unprecedented state of confusion that could last for weeks.

When counting of Monday's ballots ended for the night, only four of the 264 seats in the House of Commons were in doubt, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's Liberals had won 106 and Robert L. Stanfield's Conservatives had 107. Each was more than 20 seats short of a majority.

Customer lines to be added by Bell

Construction is underway for adding 400 customer lines to the dial switching office of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Hope.

Total gross expenditure for the project is $185,000, according to William B. O'Neal, Southwestern Bell wire chief. The project was begun early this month and is expected to be completed by January.

"By adding the new equipment, we expect to provide better service to Hope customers," O'Neal said.

Bigotry in Reverse

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I am a 17-year-old black girl and I think being black is fine, even with its complications—if you're born that way.

But I have a white friend who is meaning up because she WANTS TO BE BLACK! She claims she understands our problems and wants some kind of skin change treatment. (She read "Black Like Me" three times.) Part of her problem is rebellion against prejudiced parents, but she's going too far.

I think it's a shame to trade natural advantages for make-believe that only gets you into racial inequality. To show how far she's gone, she even asked our school nurse for a sickle cell anemia test. When I'm with her on the street, she yells, "Hey Brother!" to black dudes, but if she sees a white person she sneers, "Look at that $!%& cracker!"

How do I get it across that friendships are fine, but you shouldn't be disloyal to your race by mocking it and putting it down?—G.M.

G.: Couldn't you get it across that an inside-out Oreo risks ostracism from both races? Black people will either think she's crazy, or resent her pity, or see her reverse bigotry as the biggest laugh of the year. Those white "crackers"? She may find they've got lots of snap!

Ask her what she'd think of YOU, if you went "Uncle Tom."—HELEN

G.: Maybe your girlfriend feels "white" is inferior because she hangs around only with blacks. In HER eyes, she's a minority and she probably doesn't like it a bit.

Tell her she needs't feel guilty about her color, for no one person or race is better than the other. We're all special in our own way: why change

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): Don't overlook details. They hold a large promise. Daydreaming should not be on your schedule today.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): Social situations take a practical turn. You may want to look into something large with a friendly ally.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Coworkers are in harmony with your purposes; partners are another matter. Contracts or agreements look complicated, fuzzy.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A pragmatic approach will do the job for you, dealing on a one-to-one basis. Mutual understandings should be clear, concise.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): By paying particular attention to finances you can balance and brighten your budget. No fun and games today.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): This is your kind of day. You are socially appealing. You communicate well—everywhere except at home.

Emmet is setting for wedding vows

The wedding of Miss Toni Elaine Burke and David Brent Turner was solemnized Saturday evening, October 21, in the First United Methodist Church in Emmet.

The bride is the daughter of William Jewel Burke of DeAnn and the late Majorie Nell Burke. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Turner of Hope.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Ronnie Burke, organist, and Ronnie Burke, soloist.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. John Prothro. Vows were exchanged before a candlelit altar centered with a candle tree holding white tapers and entwined with greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon over tulle featuring a high neckline and bishop sleeves. Her mantilla train was trimmed with Venise lace. She carried a cascade of stephanotis, orchids.

Miss Lou Leasing of Emmet was maid of honor. Miss Cozy was maid of honor. Miss Cozy Burke served as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of sheer lavender featuring Juliet sleeves with purple velvet capes.

Miss Ames served as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Randy Byers, Doug Archer, and Steve Roston all of Hope. Candles were lighted by Dennis Burke, brother of the bride, and Ken Burke.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall. The house party consisted of Mrs. John Wake of Emmet, Mrs. Bruce Burke, and Mrs. Michael Samuel of Hope, Misses Debbie, Suzie, and Phyllis Butler of Bodcaw.

The brides table was covered with a white bridal satin cloth caught up with miniature rosebuds of purple and lavender flowers. The tiered wedding cake was accented with flowers of the same colors.

For the honeymoon trip the bride wore a blue knit suit with matching accessories and pinned a white orchid at her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner will be at home in Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Gathright, above, of Saratoga are celebrating their 69th wedding anniversary today.

Future Homemakers attend Fall meeting

Fifty-four Future Homemakers from the Hope High School FHA Chapter attended the annual Fall meeting of Federation XVI of the Future Homemakers of America on the Henderson State College Campus Saturday, October 28.

"Vote FHA, the Winning Ticket" was the theme for the half day meeting attended by 519 girls representing 23 schools in Southwest Arkansas.

The campaign theme was carried out throughout the program which was climaxed by the installation of Federation XVI officers for 1973-1974.

Officers installed from Hempstead County were Susan Davis of the Bodcaw Chapter, second vice president, and Rhonda Fry of the Emmet Chapter, reporter.

The Hope girls toured the Henderson campus in the afternoon and watched the Hope Band as they marched in the Regional Marching Contest also held on the Henderson campus last Saturday.

Wearing new red and white ensembles, the Future Homemakers attending from Hope were:

Kathy Walden, Marilyn Smith, Vickie Fellows, Gloria Peoples, Debra Flannery, Jean Black, Earlene Foster, Earlene Conway, Darlene Dixon, Eunice Mays, Nadine Pugh, Neva Jones.

Hair Help

Sunburnt hair has to be given very special treatment, even more than the regular after-shampoo rinse. If the hair is badly damaged, a trimming is necessary. Then invest in a heating cap for regular scalp treatments, and a good conditioner used once a week should help bring health back to your hair.

Jacket Sweaters

Shad-tied jacket sweaters in thick mohair can be worn in place of suit jackets or toppers when the weather isn't too cold.

Smiles for the umpire

BRANDENTON, Fla. (AP) — From the looks of their crisp uniforms, caps and spikes, Japan's star baseball players look a lot like American major leaguers.

Until they balk at an umpire's decision with a smile instead of a growl.

"That's the way they show the ump they think he made a bad call," said former American big leaguer Bob Aspromonte, who is coaching a Japanese team competing in U.S. winter league play.

"They don't usually squawk and yell and carry on. They just turn around and give him a big smile. The ump gets the message."

Japan's major league baseball team, Hiroshima Toyo Carp, is playing in the Florida Instructional League this fall on the Sunshine State's Gulf Coast. They are 2-3 in a 22-game schedule that runs through mid-November.

The Japanese blue-and-orange trimmed uniforms are very similar to the New York Mets.

Their gloves are made in the United States. They're bigger than Japanese-made gloves and infielders prefer them.

Ironically, in America, aspiring teen-aged big leaguers are out on the practice fields after school with mitts made in Japan.

In Japanese-style baseball, a sprained ankle isn't taped to temporarily relieve pain or dunked in a whirlpool bath.

Instead, the trainer treats injuries with acupuncture—the ancient oriental art of stabbing slender silver needles into nerve centers to relax and mend muscles.

The 44-member Central League team is the first from Japan to participate in league play in Florida. They've played previously in Arizona.

Through an interpreter, one of the team officials explained Japan's big problem is developing young players. "We have many rookies with us, only 10 regulars from the major league team and we hope they'll benefit from playing your teams," the official said.

Aspromonte, a retired third baseman who spent 14 years in the National League, is coaching the Toyo Carp. He's the only American connected with the club.

"They're great pupils," he said. "Everything you say is golden and they work extremely hard."

American ball players can learn from them, he said. "They have so much dedication for the game. In fact, too much. They'll work out for four hours before a game starts and burn themselves out."

Div. 7AA sports news

The football season ends this weekend for seven of the Div. 7AA teams and the state playoffs begin Nov. 10th with the Magnolia Panthers playing the winner of Div. 8AA on the latter's home field.

Magnolia closes out the season hosting Ashdown. Other action finds Camden at Malvern, and Arkadelphia at Fairview. In non-league games Hope plays at Nashville and Crossett is host to PB Dollarway.

Over in 8AA Hamburg and Warren are both 6-1 in conference play. Hamburg defeated Warren then lost to Star City. For Warren to win the title they have to defeat Fordyce and hope McGeehee could upset Hamburg.

Should Ashdown upset Magnolia and Malvern win over Camden the Panthers of Magnolia would still represent the district because of their win over Malvern.

Magnolia was pressed down to the final 37-second of the game before they iced a 34 to 28 win over Fairview last week. Meanwhile Hope defeated Camden 40 to 7; Crossett downed Ashdown 22-7; Malvern won over Sheridan in non-loop action 7-0 and Arkadelphia lost to Lakeside 13-0 in non-loop play.

About the only major change statistically this past week resulted in the individual scoring race. Arkadelphia's Mac Harris moved into the No. 1 spot with a touchdown and a two point conversion to slip past Malvern's J. R. Ross 106 to 93 in total points. Ross has been the leader since the second week of the season. Harris has 13 TD, 7 PAT, three two-point conversions, and a field goal.

Malvern holds a slight edge over Magnolia in the team rushing, but Magnolia leads in total offense and total defense. Crossett continues as the passing leader. Magnolia leads in total point scored with 240 and least point allowed the opponents with 92.

P. Bonds of Magnolia is the PAT leader with 27 and the field goal leader with 3.

Div. 7AA teams all total are 14-points ahead of last year's scoring total for the whole season with one game each to go. Only Camden, Arkadelphia, and Ashdown are behind last year's total.

Standings

Southern Cal still in No. 1 position

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California, which survived nine fumbles in beating Oregon 18-0 Saturday, retained the top spot in The Associated Press' weekly college football rankings.

The Trojans, 8-0, received 41 first-place votes and 880 of a possible 1,000 points from the nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama, 7-0 after thrashing Southern Mississippi 48-11, retained the second spot with 611 points and three first-place votes. Defending national champion Nebraska held onto the No. 3 spot with four first-place votes and 780 points after registering its fourth straight shutout, a 34-0 romp over Oklahoma State.

Michigan climbed one spot to fourth with 604 points after overpowering Minnesota 42-0. Big Ten rival Ohio State dropped from fourth to fifth with 620 points after edging Wisconsin 28-20.

Louisiana State, 6-0 and idle Saturday, stayed in sixth place, but Colorado, seventh last week, dropped all the way to 15th after being upended by Missouri 20-17.

Oklahoma, UCLA, Texas and Penn State round out the top ten, each moving up one notch from last week. The second ten consists of Auburn, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Iowa State, Colorado, Missouri, Louisville, Texas Tech, Air Force and Arkansas.

Florida State, Southern Methodist and West Virginia dropped out of the top twenty as Missouri, Louisville and Texas Tech made their season debuts among the elite.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 28-18-16-14-12-10-8-6-4-3-2-1:

1. USC (41)	8-0	880
2. Alabama (3)	7-0	811
3. Nebraska (4)	6-1	780
4. Michigan (1)	7-0	694
5. Ohio State (1)	6-0	620
6. LSU	6-0	558
7. Oklahoma	5-1	471
8. UCLA	7-1	379
9. Texas	5-1	301
10. Penn State	6-1	290

Namath a prude? Say it ain't so

By JOAN RYAN

Joe Namath, a prude? I couldn't believe it.

Like many of America's sports nuts, I had read and believed in Joe Namath's image. The press had me convinced that this young man lived a 36-hour day as the most swinging bachelor who ever suited up for football.

I believed that a giant tote board would be required to tally his conquests. I believed that he gargled with Johnny Walker Red to wake up in time for practice. I believed that his phones were tapped by Pope Pete because his friends were unsavory characters.

But when I heard him confess to Merv Griffin that he, Joltin' Joe Namath, Super Jet, had declined editor Helen Gurley Brown's offer to appear in the buff as Cosmopolitan Magazine's first centerfold nude, I did a double take. Horrors, Burt Reynolds was a second choice.

Joe lowered his eyes modestly as he explained his decision. "I just couldn't see it. I mean, I like the picture they made but I couldn't see it for me."

I know that Joe didn't like the popular Broadway play, "Hair." "I thought it was a dirty show," he had said. But somehow I couldn't see him passing up a chance to recline on his famous llama rug, stripped for art's sake. I mean, he took it all off for that razor blade commercial.

I called Dick Schaap, Joe's ghostwriter for his autobiography, "I Can't Wait Until Tomorrow—Cause I Get Better Looking Every Day," to see if he thought Joe had fallen out of character when he refused Ms. Brown.

"Joe's not an exhibitionist," said Schaap primly. "He has a moral code like everyone else. The only difference between Joe Namath and other football players is that Joe is totally honest about what he does."

If all this makes it seem there is a Whitewash Joe Namath cult creeping across the land, it certainly hasn't hit Bill Glass yet.

Bill Glass, a defensive end for Detroit and Cleveland before he retired to run an evangelistic group in the Southwest, is hard at work beating the underbrush for evil.

And Joe Namath is one of his targets. In a pulp-type interview with a San Francisco newspaper, Preacher Glass, who was joshingly called "Elmer Gantry" by less pious teammates during his playing days, said, in effect, "Joe Namath should be concerned with setting an example for young boys who try to copy the football heroes. And I don't think that living with an unmarried woman is a good image for an athlete to project."

That Namath had settled on one woman, married or unmarried, was news to me. And maybe if Bill had kept his revelation quiet, it would have escaped the notice of a few million boys who emulate the lifestyles of football players as reported by the press.

Schaap pooh-poohed Bill's charge. "I know Joe does have a girlfriend. She's a very successful New York girl. But they have separate apartments—at least, at times they do." And he gave a devilish laugh.

But then Joe and his associates are masters of the suggestive phrase as a defense of his flamboyant super-stud image. Maybe they're afraid the public will find out that Joe Namath is really as wholesome as a bowl of hot milk toast.

And heaven forbid, to use one of Bill Glass's expressions, that the illusion be destroyed for Joe's extravagant life-style has attracted as much attention as his considerable talent on the football field.

Stories about that wall-to-wall llama carpeting, which had to be sprayed for fleas instead of being shampooed, have sold as many New York Jet tickets as his touchdown passes and his Super Bowl predictions.

Schaap insists, though, that Joe's two greatest assets are honesty and loyalty. "He's a man with great star quality, but he's kind. The humbler a woman is, the nicer he is to her. He might meet a famous actress and not even notice her. But let a cocktail waitress ask for an autograph, and he'll spend an hour talking to her."

Honest, loyal, modest, compassionate. Really now, Bill Glass, preacher or not, how can you attack a fellow that sounds like a chapter from the Boy Scout Manual? Even if it is the new revised edition.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

JOE NAMATH is always in the spotlight, whether he is quarterbacking the New York Jets or being made up for a television appearance. But his playboy reputation is in danger of being ruined by his disclosure that he turned down a chance to pose nude in a women's magazine.

Craig Morton:

'I can live without the cheers'

DALLAS (AP) — "Let 'em boo," said a satisfied Craig Morton. "When I'm throwing touchdowns and the Dallas Cowboys are winning, I can live without the cheers."

The longtime No. 1 whipping boy when pro football fortunes wilted here, Morton passed for three scores Monday night and set up a fourth in a 28-24 win over the Detroit Lions.

"As long as Roger and I are in competition, there will be Staubach fans and Morton fans," said the 6-foot-4 Californian. "It's a way of life for me in Dallas, but all I can do is perform."

Morton was a point machine, heaving a 39-yard touchdown bomb to Billy Parks, one of 33 yards to Calvin Hill and a 15-yarder to heretofore unknown running back Mike Montgomery.

A 27-yard screen from Morton to Montgomery set up a one-yard touchdown smash by the second-year man who came from San Diego in the deal for the controversial, untalkative, idle Duane Thomas.

Dallas, 5-2, pulled within a game of Washington's Redskins in the National Conference East while Detroit plunged back into a tie at 4-3 with Green Bay in the NFC Central.

Morton was 11 of 19 for 206 yards in a game where Coach Tom Landry's articulate plan was to control the ball and pass less than 20 times.

"Detroit is better on offense than defense," said Morton, "so we tried to play keepaway."

FHA loans available

Theodore Eldridge, county supervisor, for the Farmers Home Administration, said, that funds are available to farmers for making adjustments and improvements in their farm and home operations necessary for successful farming, to buy livestock, equipment, pay operating expenses and refinance debts.

Eldridge also announced the availability of funds to farmers to buy or enlarge farms, to construct, improve farm homes and other buildings, to drill wells and improve water supply systems for home and farm use and to refinance debts.

In addition these loans may be used to improve farmland, clear timber land, provide drainage systems, establish pasture and fencing.

Each operating loan is tailored to the individual borrower's need. The Farmers Home Administration supervisory personnel assists the borrower in analyzing his resources plus those obtained by loans for the best use.

Loans are made through the county offices of the Farmers Home Administration serving rural areas of the United States; all loans are accompanied by technical assistance in farm and financial management.

The interest rate for operating loans is 5% per cent per year on the unpaid principal.

The interest rate for farm ownership loans is 8 per cent on the unpaid principal; the maximum term is 40 years.

Each operating loan is scheduled for repayment within a period consistent with the borrower's annual ability to repay. Funds advanced for operating expenses are repaid when the crops, livestock, or livestock products produced during the year are sold. Funds loans for productive livestock and for farm equipment may be scheduled for repayment over periods from one to seven years.

Eligibility of applicants for FHA loans is determined by the County FHA Committee which consists of three local persons that are familiar with FHA loan requirements and local farming and credit conditions in the County.

Eldridge stated that anyone interested in this type credit assistance in Hempstead County may make application through his office located in the Federal Building, Hope. This office is open from Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Explosion leaves 5 dead

LAKE CITY, Minn. (AP) — An explosion which ripped through a variety store about the time several children were coming in and out to collect prizes for a Halloween coloring contest has left at least five persons dead and nine injured.

More than 100 police, firemen and volunteers continued the search through a chilly rain in the early morning hours today for other possible victims of Monday's blast. Authorities held little hope of finding any more survivors and were unsure if other persons were still trapped.

There were 10 to 15 persons in the store when the explosion occurred shortly before the 5 p.m. closing time.

"I happened to be looking across the street when I saw a flash of light, the roof coming down and dust blowing out," said Jerry Nihart, a clerk at a store across the street. "Then the noise came."

Demos trying to hit Nixon through vetoes

By R. GREGORY NOKES

Associated Press Writer

Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern and running-mate Sargent Shriver sought today to capitalize on President Nixon's veto Monday of two bills to assist the elderly.

"In an effort to obtain the votes of more than 20 million older Americans, Mr. Nixon's TV campaign advertisements are filled with pious promises, most of which are plainly untrue and most of which have been flatly contradicted by this veto," McGovern said.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, meanwhile, tried to capitalize on a statement by McGovern that he would reserve the right to try to renegotiate a provision in a Vietnam peace agreement providing for continued military aid to the present South Vietnamese government.

"After 10 years of blood, sweat and tears the United States is closer than ever before to the honorable peace for which so much national sacrifice has been made. Yet, Mr. McGovern says that he would renegotiate that honorable peace, betray our Vietnamese ally and agree to an American surrender," Agnew said in a Monday night radio broadcast.

With only a week remaining in the 1972 campaign, McGovern, Shriver and Agnew all had appearances scheduled today. President Nixon had planned to campaign in Chicago today, but cancelled the trip after a train accident killed 44 persons there on Monday.

McGovern cancelled plans for a torchlight parade with Mayor

Richard J. Daley in Chicago on Wednesday because of the tragedy. McGovern's schedule today included stops in Syracuse, N.Y., New York City and Jersey City, N.J.

In remarks prepared for Syracuse today, McGovern charged that Nixon is "afraid to stand up to the gold-platers and the big wasters in the Pentagon, just as he is afraid to come out and face the American people in this campaign."

He said that as long as defense spending remained unchecked, there would be "four more years of a sagging economy and domestic neglect" under a second Nixon administration.

McGovern Monday called President Nixon "Mr. Veto" because of his veto of 11 bills, including the Older Americans Act and a new program of research into the problems of aging.

President Nixon explained those vetoes in a radio broadcast Monday, saying the bills provided for greater outlays than could be managed practically, plus they overlapped existing programs.

He pledged to seek property tax relief for elderly citizens as one of "my highest priority proposals" if re-elected.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Shriver, winding up his last campaign trip in California, said of Nixon's vetoes: "When it comes to human beings, he's against them."

Shriver will be in San Francisco, Portland, Ore., and Seattle today. Agnew planned to travel to Warren, Mich., Amarillo, Tex., and Los Angeles.

Chinese version of women's lib

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Chinese version of "women's lib" is helping control births among the 800 million people of China, the world's largest population, says Dr. Lin Ch'ien-chih.

Ninety per cent of Chinese women now are engaged in work or study, rather than staying home and bearing many children, she says.

Dr. Lin, 71, a gynecologist, is one of 12 physicians from the People's Republic of China who today will wind up a nearly three-week tour of medical institutions in the United States. All were guests Monday afternoon at Syntex Research in Palo Alto, Calif., one of the world's major producers of contraceptive chemicals, and questions put to the visitors in the main concerned China's practices in planned parenthood.

"Before liberation, it used to be the family wanted lots of children," Dr. Lin said. By liberation, she made clear she meant the formation of the People's Republic, but in her remarks in other cities the physician has also indicated she has meant a different role for women.

Infant mortality formerly used to be "very high," but "now has gone down tremendously. Mothers and grandmothers once wanted to have 10 children so that two would survive," but changes in pre-natal and allied health care are keeping more infants alive, Dr. Lin said. Another factor in China's efforts to control population is that all contraceptive devices, whether "the pill" or intrauterine devices, or oper-

Does water cause stones?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My mother used to have springwater delivered to her home. We heard about a spring nearby and she asked us to bring her water from there which we did. This started about a year ago. My mother is 84 years old and the doctor thinks she has a kidney stone. My sister said that the doctor told her that the springwater was no good. I know it is not filtered but a lot of our friends, as well as my husband and myself, have been drinking it and have had no problem.

My mother has terrible pains on her right side. Could the water have caused it? My sister just as much as accused me of it. My mother has had arthritis for years and now they claim the water made it worse. Is this possible? I also have arthritis and I am not blaming it on the water. Please answer. Dr. Lamb, as I am anxious to know one way or another. They don't seem to realize my mother is getting up in years and another thing, she is a heavy woman which is not to her advantage.

Dear Reader—No doubt the doctor meant that the water might not be purified, meaning that it might contain some harmful bacteria. This is a problem with springwater that is not under careful supervision. For water to be safe to drink, it must be tested for bacterial content as well as chemical content. In city water supplies, there are enough various chemicals included in the water to keep it purified and to protect our health.

Although springwater might contain a small amount of minerals, depending upon where it is obtained, it is most unlikely that it would cause a kidney stone, if indeed your mother has one. I think you can be quite certain that the water you have given her has not caused this problem, nor has it caused her arthritis. There is no evidence that springwater or water of any sort that is potable to drink at all causes arthritis of any type or kidney stones. This is not an endorsement for springwater because I don't think anyone should be drinking water unless they are sure that it is controlled by public health regulations.

Incidentally, many doctors urge individuals with kidney stones to drink plenty of water to maintain adequate flow from the kidneys. The idea is that dehydration leads to stagnation and possible kidney stone formation. This, of course, is an oversimplification because there are many causes for kidney stones, including vitamin D intoxication, urinary tract infections and softening of the bones with increased amounts of calcium in the blood stream filtered by the kidneys.

The diet, not water, is the main source of minerals and it is particularly important in patients with certain types of stones. By analyzing the type of minerals in a stone the doctor can determine if a special diet would be helpful or not.

There are other things besides kidney stones that cause pain in the side, including pressure on spinal nerves from arthritis and degeneration of the spine, and colon trouble.

People in the News

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Diana Ross has given birth to her second child, a six-pound, one-ounce daughter.

The baby, Tracee Joy, was born Sunday night at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Both she and Miss Ross were reported doing fine.

Miss Ross is the wife of Robert Silberman. They have another daughter, Rhonda Sumner.

LOS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Actor George Hamilton, 33, has married 27-year-old Alana Nollins of Los Angeles.

A spokesman for the Las Vegas Hilton Hotel said the couple flew in from Palm Springs, Calif., Sunday afternoon and were married in a 10th-floor suite.

It was the first marriage for both.

After the ceremony the couple returned to Palm Springs and planned to honeymoon in Greece where Hamilton will be producing and starring in a movie called "The Rhodes Incident."

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende has the flu.

A presidential press spokesman said that Allende came down with the flu Sunday but went to his offices as usual Monday to carry out his normal duties.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 17 commander Eugene Cernan says "I'm ready" for the moon mission in December.

Cernan made the remark Monday after battling brisk winds to make a successful flight aboard a rocket-powered moon-landing simulator.

Apollo 17 will be launched Dec. 6. Cernan will be flying with astronauts Harrison H. Schmitt and Ron Evans. Schmitt and Cernan will land on the moon while Evans remains in orbit.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Antiwar activist Tom Hayden says he and several others will leave Wednesday for Hanoi.

Hayden, who declined to identify the others in the group, said Monday that the delegation will be "broad-based" and will help in the return of all American prisoners of war to the United States.

He said he expects the POWs to be handed over to an American Peace group rather than to a government agency.

The group which invited them to Hanoi, he said, is the North Vietnamese Committee on Solidarity with the American People. The groups handled the release of three American prisoners to American peace movement leaders recently.

Life is a series of experiences, each one of which makes us bigger, even though sometimes it is hard to realize this. For the world was built to develop character, and we must learn that the setbacks and griefs which we endure help us in our marching onward.—Henry Ford, American automotive pioneer.

When Act 1 passes, train crewmen will have more job protection than they have right now.

Voting out the Train Crew Laws through approval of Act 1 automatically votes into Arkansas law complete job and earnings protection for the Arkansas train crew members... more protection, in fact, than railroaders in similar jobs have anywhere else in the country.

The United Transportation Union—the train crewmen's own union—has already accepted the job and earnings protection terms of Act 1, plus other far-reaching benefits, that can't go into effect until Act 1 is approved.

No train crewman will lose his job, be reduced in earnings or be transferred to another job or to another location unless he chooses to be. That's what Arkansas law and the union contracts will guarantee.

Present train crewmen will stay in their jobs until they retire, earn a promotion or leave train service on their own. This process—called attrition—means that if the job that an employee has is a job which is not required by the union or by the railroad, then the job won't be filled when he leaves it. But train crewmen can have their jobs as long as they want them.

Vote to let the union contracts go into effect.
Vote FOR Act 1.

When you vote FOR Act 1, you won't cost anyone his job.

spades from your hand. Now you cash your two high diamonds and the rest of your trumps to leave you with one diamond and two spades.

West will have to come down to three cards while dummy still holds ace-king-small of spades and a club. West will have to throw a spade; then dummy's club can be jettisoned.

East will also have to throw a spade to keep a diamond and dummy's spades will be good.

Never mind how you got to seven hearts with today's hand. You are there and can count 12 winners with no apparent play for the all important 13th trick.

If you know about squeezes you recognize that while the opponents have spades, diamonds and clubs well stopped, the squeeze should develop because only West can stop clubs while only East can stop diamonds and that if you time your play right you can make it impossible for either one to stop spades.

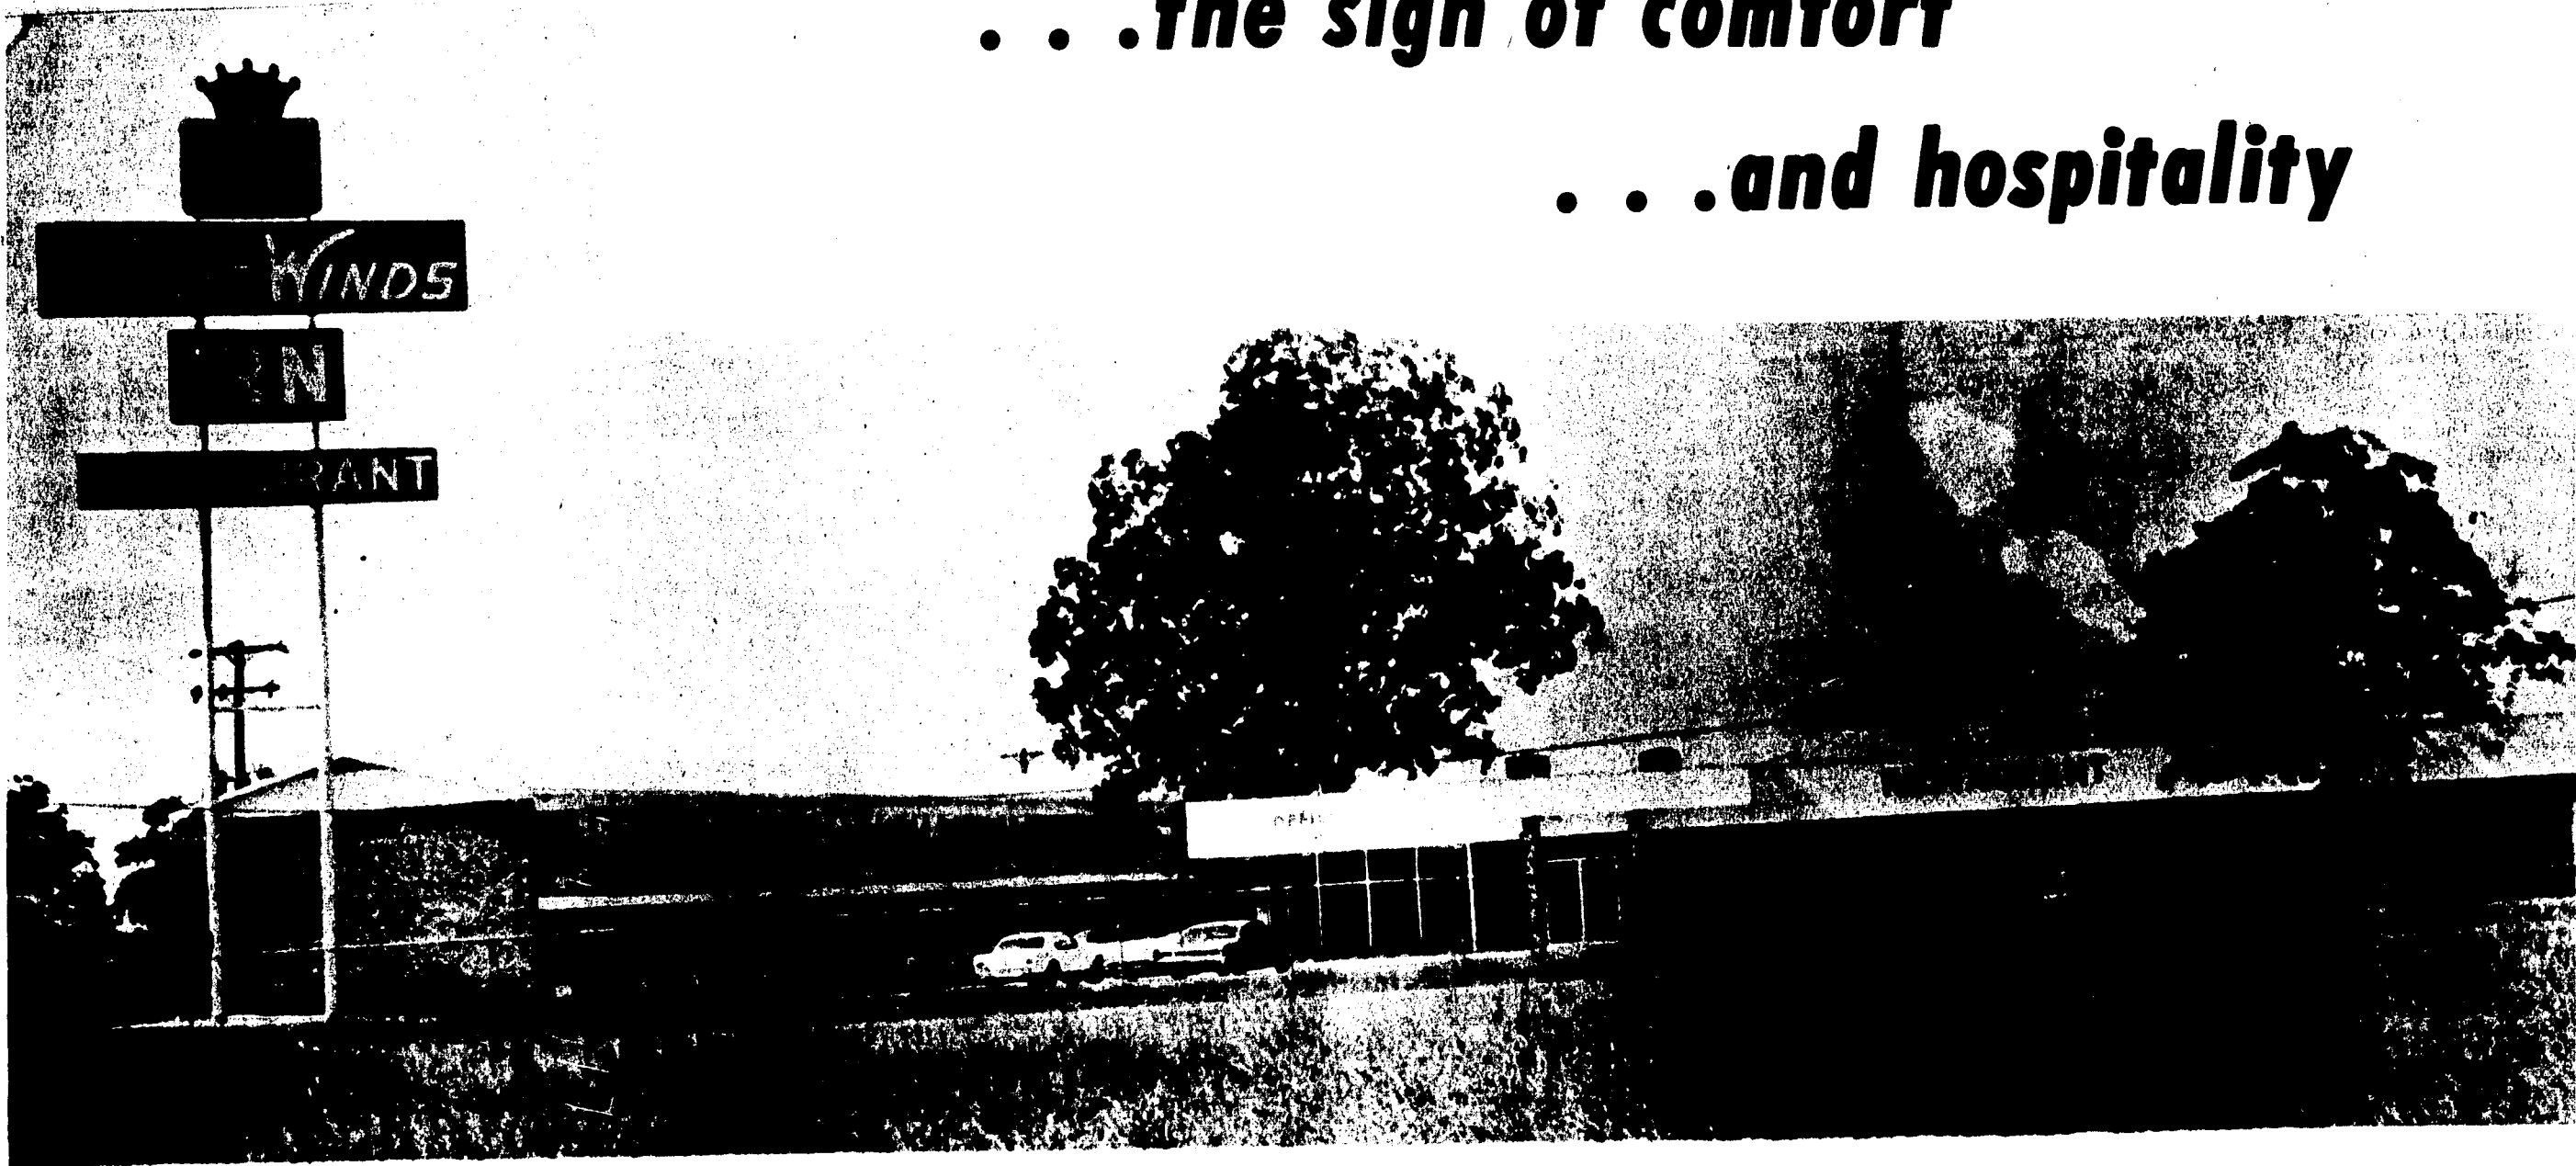

You start by ruffing the first club. Maybe West holds a nine-card suit. You draw trumps with three leads: cash dummy's ace and king of clubs to discard two

McGovern: Political wonder of primaries

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
Chugging through the snows of New Hampshire, picking up speed in Wisconsin, rolling through California, the campaign machine of Sen. George McGovern was the political wonder of the presidential primaries.

What has happened to that McGovern machine in the presidential campaign?

A look now at the McGovern campaign in three states where he won important primary victories — Wisconsin, California and Massachusetts — indicates major changes since last spring:

—The flood of volunteers, particularly from the campuses, which fueled McGovern's primary campaigns has not been there this fall.

—The politically savvy traveling troops who followed the primaries from state to state have been dispersed and plugged into various key states. They are spread thin.

—The McGovern machine now has the backing of the Democratic party, but it has not meant much in some places.

In Wisconsin, however, the McGovern machine appears to be running well with local people who moved into key spots vacated by top campaign organizers who left after the primary. President Nixon carried the state by more than 60,000 votes in 1960 and 1968, but key people in both camps say the race this year is now a tossup.

McGovern staffers in California frankly admit the campaign machine there broke down after the primary.

"We were fantastically disorganized in the primary. It all broke down after the election," said Elmer Cooper, who recently took over McGovern's Southern California campaign. "There was basically nothing here when I came in."

Cooper installed a highly structured organization to replace the flexible, often overlapping machinery of the primary campaign. With party regulars filling many key posts, the organization is now more like a traditional Democratic campaign operation than the McGovern machine of primary days.

The canvass of Democratic voters in California conducted by McGovern workers during the primary was the crowning achievement of the McGovern machine. Popular wisdom had long ago determined the impossibility of canvassing nearly every precinct in the state. McGovern workers did it.

A similar canvass is now under way, but it is running far behind the pace of last spring's effort. It started later because of an intensive voter registration drive and has been slowed by a lack of volunteers.

"We just don't have the bodies that we had in the spring," said Paul Sullivan, director of the canvass in Southern California. "The momentum just is not there."

Independent polls in California and Massachusetts recently showed McGovern trailing President Nixon. California, with the largest bloc of electoral votes in the nation, 45, is a swing state McGovern's staffers said he must carry. Massachusetts is a traditionally Democratic state McGovern had been expected to win with ease.

About 70 of McGovern's migrating campaign organizers worked in local offices throughout Massachusetts during the final weeks of the primary there. Nearly all moved on to more important jobs as the campaign progressed. Five people who worked in Massachusetts are now running McGovern campaigns in other states, said John McKean, McGovern's Massachusetts coordinator.

Class in Hawaii is a 'first'

HONOLULU (AP) — The University of Hawaii is offering a course which requires students to use a means of transportation other than the car in commuting to and from school.

School officials believe it to be a "first" in attempting to clear college campuses of the automobile.

The university, with 23,000 students, has 6,700 automobiles registered for campus parking. It is faced with a problem common to many university campuses — too many cars and not enough places to put them.

An easy solution would be to build more parking lots. But Hawaii decided this fall to try something else, a two-credit, no-car course. It's listed under a "survival-plus program" in the college of arts and sciences.

A full class of 150 students enrolled for the course during the two days it was opened for registration, said Tony Hodges, the instructor.

"This course is going to create a withdrawal effect, and is going to be harder than giving up dope," Hodges said.

"I even had one student say that he would burn his draft card but not his parking sticker."

Prisoner commutes

BELLE GLADE, Fla. (AP)

— Willie Sims, serving a 14-year sentence for assault with intent to rape, commutes from prison to college twice a week.

Sims, 24, an inmate at Glades Correctional Institution, is enrolled at Palm Beach Junior College some 30 miles away under a federally funded rehabilitation program.

"The other students commute from their homes in the free world," he says "and I commute to college from prison."

It was more than three years ago that Sims was arrested and convicted in Miami of assault with intent to rape.

Now he says he is getting a second chance and "it means that all hope is not lost, even though I know I'll have a tough time re-entering the free world."

Sims is enrolled as a freshman psychology student and after he gets his degree plans to work with "young people to help them not make the same mistakes I've made."

"I'm not proud of my prison experience, but it might prove beneficial to me in counseling," he said.

Bob Thomas, Glades' supervisor of education, said Sims is the only inmate who is a day student at the college but "we're hoping to have more Willies."

Sims is described as having a solid B average and a mature student.

Ben-Gurion,
86, alone
with dream

SDE BOQER, Israel (AP) — The architect of modern Israel, David Ben-Gurion, spent his 86th birthday alone in a little wooden cottage with his dream of making the desert bloom.

"The main problem facing Israel today is to bring more Jews to build the country . . . This is a desert, but it can be changed . . . We need at least five or six million Jews more," Ben-Gurion said Sunday at his home in this pioneer farming outpost. He shrugged other problems aside.

His lion-like face beneath the twin tufts of white hair shriveled but still lively, the Israeli patriarch now pays scant attention to the world issues he once helped influence or even to Arab threats of war against the Jewish state.

Working against time, he is concerned with writing history instead of making it, compiling an 11-volume account of Israel's pioneering years.

"I want to tell our youth what has been done so far in Israel," he said, so the new generations of Jews can understand their heritage and develop it.

"Peace with the Arabs? Once we were at peace, and we worked together . . . There will be peace again. I am not certain it will happen in six months or a year, but we will have it.

"For the time being, I think there is peace."

As he spoke, Israeli jets were raiding guerrilla bases in Lebanon and Syria, but Ben-Gurion, is no longer in touch with the government and did not know it.

Is Premier Golda Meir's government correct in forbidding counterterrorist attacks in Europe against such Arab guerrillas as the Munich Olympic killers?

"I am against 'an eye for an eye' general," said Ben-Gurion. Israel should ask European governments to stamp out Arab terrorists abroad, he went on, but "if for some reason they cannot do it — and there may be some governments who say it is not their business — then we will have to do it . . . How? I prefer not to speak about that."

Life is simple for wife of South Vietnamese

GIA DINH, Vietnam (AP) — Judy Linebaugh Han lives in a two-bedroom apartment overlooking a pig slaughterhouse just outside Saigon, half a world away from the dairy farm in Lyons, Mich., where she grew up.

At 25, one of a handful of American women who have married Vietnamese men, Mrs. Han doesn't share the comparative luxury that softens the life of many Americans in this war-ravaged country.

In the four years since she moved to Vietnam, after graduation from Michigan State University, she has heard of only two other such couples.

"They're used to GIs with Vietnamese girls—this is the reverse," she observes.

For a woman who is neither fluent in the language nor accustomed to the culture, living here is far from easy. Her only extravagances are two small refrigerators in the kitchen and a small Japanese washing machine that fits in the bathroom. Her husband drives their Jeep-like Vietnamese car to work, leaving her isolated in this dusty suburb.

"There are many problems," she said, pointing to dirt alleys smelling of garbage that surround the four-story apartment building. "I walk on the street with Han and the kids, and people stare or want to touch the children's white skin. I get tired of it."

"There's no backyard, no place for the children to play. There's no hot water in the building. I get mad when the electricity goes off, especially on hot days like today because the fan won't work."

But for Mrs. Han, these complaints are minor. She has no interest in leaving Vietnam and doesn't plan to go back to the United States.

"I don't think I want to live there again," she said. "It's too big. Life is simple here. My life here is very peaceful. That sounds strange when there's a war going on, but the war doesn't affect us much."

At night in their simply furnished living room they can hear helicopters and also the artillery fire outside the city—often close enough to shake the apartment building—but she pays scant attention.

Khoi, their 3-year-old son, scarcely notices the soldiers who guard street corners near their home—"He's used to them; he sees soldiers all the time."

Mrs. Han said she wants to bring her children up as Americans. Khoi, who was born in Vietnam, is considered a citizen by both countries. When their second child was expected Mrs. Han dipped into her savings to pay for a plane ticket home. Eric was born four months ago in the United States.

"I want to teach my children about truth and freedom in America," she said. "I like freedom. I want them to know it, too. I want them to be imaginative and creative."

A supporter of President Nixon's Vietnam policies, she hopes to see him re-elected. She has registered at the American embassy for an absentee ballot. Nixon's book "Six Crises," is one of the few volumes in the Han bookcase.

Mrs. Han said her children are bigger than most Vietnamese their age. She attributes it partly to the fact they eat more meat than Vietnamese.

Because she doesn't share commissary or post-exchange privileges enjoyed by most American families here, most of the American products she prefers come from the black market. She figures she spends about 7,000 piasters or $16 a week for food.

Her husband often does the grocery shopping. As a Vietnamese, he can more easily bargain for better prices.

The husband, Huynh Han, has two jobs to support his family. He heads the investment department in an industrial development bank and works part-time for a new firm that promotes management training among the Vietnamese. He makes about 100,000 piasters or $230 a month, a good salary by Vietnamese standards.

Judy Han said she might like to send their children to study in America, or possibly New Zealand, where she and her husband met when they were

"I want to bring up my children in such a way as they can be self-confident and independent," she said. "To me that's important."

Boyleing
it down

NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are like the seasons of the year.

They are recurrent miracles and each has its own pageantry.

The more memories you have to summon up on the days when your heart needs a little cheer, the more fortunate your life has been.

You've been exposed to a lot of living yourself if you can look back and remember when

Before the women's liberation movement made the feminine sex so serious and self-conscious, girls rather liked being called chicks.

It was considered indecorous to speak of your glands in mixed company.

A jewelry store always kept in the window a clock that had been wound up and told you the right time.

A man outdoors without a hat on looked funny.

It was so unusual for anyone to drink anything except straight whisky that when anyone ordered a Martini he met a barful of snickers, and the bartender would tell his wife later when he got home, "I don't know what the world's coming to."

Men who chewed tobacco or smoked cigars looked down on younger men who smoked cigarettes as weaklings or worse.

Any political candidate who wore sideburns was regarded as a leftover relic from the 18th century.

Children were just the opposite of what many are today. Then they had dirty ears and clean minds.

Those were the days — remember?
